Curling Notes

Wainwright bonspiel is now a thing of the past, and it is sad to relate that the "Wet Rink" made the best showing, although they were closely followed by "The Moderation League Rink".

The question has been asked several times where the dry skip got the two trophies he brought home, well, Harry Freeman won them a season or so ago and they were loaned to Wainwright for their last Bonspiel by the Chauvin Club.

The Chauvin Curlers were well pleased with the way in which they were entertained at Wainwright, as Jeff Swan remarked one night "This is the height of hospitality."

The Social Event of the bonspiel as far as the Chauvin Curlers were concerned, was Bill Cahill's party. Jack Rinde cut the ice, A. G. Godin poured the tea, while J. Guthrie assisted the host in receiving guests. An apology for absence was received from Mr. Code, G. W. Alban and Mayor Parcels sang in their usual pleasing manner.

We are all indebted to Jeff Swan for furnishing the music, bagpipes are certainly appropriate for a bonspiel, and it was an inspiring sight to see the parade of the Chauvin Curlers, at Wainwright the last night of the spile.

Chauvin's big local bonspiel will commence Monday or Tuesday, there will be three competitors, for which valuable prizes are being provided, everybody come and see the roaring game next week. This bonspiel is going to be bigger and better than ever.

The bonspiel prizes will be on display in G. W. Alban's window on Saturday, call and see them.

Prosperity Has Good Masquerade Dance

A very pleasant time was spent by the many present at the Masquerade dance at Prosperity. A splendid array of costumes made the judging a matter of particular difficulty. Miss Canada costume worn by M. Butler winning the first prize and Folly (Miss Freeman) second in the ladies (Charlie Chaplin (C. Metheson) won first in the gents, and W. Day as a clown second. As an evidence of the glad time they all had we may mention that they kept the dance up until five o'clock in the morning. An excellent lunch was served by the ladies of the district.

Burn's Celebration

Was Great Success

The anniversary of Robert Burns was celebrated in a fitting manner by our good Scotch neighbours through the agency of their St. Andrew's Society, by a dinner, concert and a real Scotch dance.

Well over seventy, from all parts of the district, were present. The dinner was a sumptuous one, haggis being the feature amply supplemented by trout and lamb chops, following which as sweets came a whole array of scones, pancakes, oatcakes, buns, shortbreads, after which all were quite ready to enjoy the concert.

The opening toast to the King was proposed by Jas. Guthrie and responded to by A. Taylor. The immortal memory of Robert Burns was then duly honored. After a song by Jas. Semple the 'Army and Navy' was toasted by C. C. McKechnie and responded to by Capt. Pearch, M.C.C. Mrs. H. Young sang 'Aye Winkin O' and Jeff Swan rectified 'Tam O'Shanter', then followed a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Armour. A toast to the 'Scotch' was proposed by J. Semple and responded to by H. Young. A Taylor gave a recitation and W. Petrie a reading before the next toast, that of Canada, was proposed by J. A. Mac (Continued on inner page)

G. A. WOODWARD

Killarney U. F. A.

Mr. Spencer, of Edgerton paid a Chauvin, last week, arriving at Killarney on the 12th. There was a good turnout of members. Much interest was shown in Mr. Spencer's explanation of the plans for the proposed wheat pool, and quite a number of questions were asked. The big Convention now in session in Edmonton will probably decide either one way or another, ere the end of the proceedings.

Apologies of this question, perhaps you may have noticed that every once in a while some enthusiastic/souls rises to remark that only by co-operation (Continued on inner page)

Killarney School Mtg

The annual meeting of above school district was attended by a representative number of ratepayers. After the usual procedure, on such occasions, the chairman E. Boulanger called for nomination for a new trustee to fill the place of L. Bergeard the retiring member of the Board, whereupon Das Semple was elected by an unanimous vote.

At the business meeting which followed it was agreed to have the clock room partition removed to make the seating capacity greater. It was also decided to open the heating system for another which would give better all round results.

Our local carpenter, T. B. Lambert will do the repair work which is expected to be completed by the time Mr. Costin returns from his holidays. The latter gentleman has had his salary raised, and general satisfaction is felt that he will train the young idea to shoot, for another term at least.

A the Xmas holidays Mr. Costin was presented by the senior pupils, with a handsome lunch kit as an expression of their gratitude for the way he had helped them along with their studies.

Why The Retailers Are Discounting

With retailers everywhere discounting stock to the public at a greater reduction than they will be able to obtain from wholesalers on their new orders, many are wondering just where lies the cause of the tremendous cuts noticeable in sales of clothing and dry goods. A recent review of the situation by Frank Hubert in the Manitoba Free Press throws an interesting light on this prominent question.

Latest News—Chauvin Pharmacy

tion. Mr. Hubert said in part:

Price Level Not Permanent

"It is plainly evident, also, that the prices of today are not representative of the actual values and that inevitably there will be a readjustment upwards before very long.

"Retail stores were heavily overstocked. Many of them are still carrying large stocks than they desire, and all of them are intent only upon realizing as much money now as possible. They all know that when they go into the market to buy again, while there will be certain reductions they will not necessarily so extensive and drastic as the cuts that have been made by the retail stores themselves.

"To put the situation in a nutshell, retail prices have dropped anywhere from 20 to 50 per cent. Wholesale prices have dropped approximately only 10 per cent. A ten per cent. wholesale drop would not warrant more than a 15 per cent. cut in retail prices.

Several Reasons for Conditions

"Several events combined to cause the present situation. Chief among these, perhaps, the overloading of stocks. This was brought about by the wholesalers jobbers, and manufacturers filling orders completely when the retailers never expected more than 70 per cent. of their order. "During the years of war store buyers found it almost impossible to get goods. They paid whatever prices were asked, and then were only able to get perhaps half their order. The year following the declaration of peace was even worse. Thousands of men were demobilized from the army. They were all anxious to get into civilian clothes again. They all had money. Price was of little account, so long as they could get what they wanted. Warned by past experience, buyers flooded the market for this season's goods. They bought everything in sight. But the manufacturers had caught up. They were well stocked with goods and orders were filled promptly and in entirety. Added to this they looked up uncancelled back orders and filled them too. Almost every retail merchant has had the experience of finding bales of goods come to hand, even the order for which he had long since forgotten. An unusually mild fall added to the trouble of the retailer with the result that prices have been in many cases cut in two.

Slight Drop in Materials

A suit that would sell ordinarily for $105, may be bought for $76.50. A $95 suit may be bought for $69.50 and suits from $42 to $50 for $35.

"A representative of one of the largest Old Country woolen concerns, talking about the woollier situation, said: "Undoubtedly, there has been a shrinkage in the price of wool, more or less pronounced, according to the quality. The fall in fine botany wools is comparatively small, compared with low crossbred and coarse wools. March and April of last year manufacturers were making their contracts for the 1921 spring trade, and the price of wool had reached its peak. It is from that high level that the fall has now taken place, and the price of wools has receded to approximately what they were for the present winter's business. From this it will be seen that the goods delivered and sold for this winter's business are sound in value and unaffected by the market drop in the price of wool."

"The significance of this statement is that the cuts that are now appearing in men's clothing and not even in any drop in the cost of material, but are brought about merely by an over-loaded market and with the passing of that condition prices will return to the level forced by the cost of wages plus the cost of material.

the peace for permits to own or carry firearms will be unavailing, as such officers have no power under the act to issue them. The police officers of Alberta are already receiving numbers of applications and are issuing permits accordingly, but there has not yet been any general effort to comply with the terms of the act.

The United Farmers of Alberta will be a definite factor in the next provincial elections. The annual convention unanimously adopted a resolution advising provincial political action in every constituency in the province.

SHORT STORIES OF A SOLDIER'S LIFE AT THE FRONT

WIRELESS TELEPATHY

Now dear readers you may have what notions you like on this subject, but if you do not believe in it well I will right now, get down to business to convert you. There is no possible shadow about the truth. There is wireless telepathy, of that I am as certain as that at the present time I am like all typists, chewing gum. Now for the explanation, and then I am sure you will see why I am so convinced, and no doubt you will see the reason that I am so anxious to convert you to the throng of believers. It was in June 1914 that I had the first occurrence of this kind happen to me and the impression that this occurrence made on my mind was so strong that I always said that if by any chance I had got killed in the late great war, my mother would have known that I was killed even before I was in the rigor of death.

Now at the time of the first occurrence I was a trooper in the 29th Light Horse, (Sask.), and we were in the Sewell camp in Manitoba, doing our annual training. The distance between my mother and myself was roughly between 500 and 600 miles. We had a good time all the time we were in training and to finish the thing in the right manner it was decided to hold a series of races on the evening previous to our departure to our different homes. It was while taking part in one of these races that I happened to be crowded over to the inside, and as we had mounted horsemen to mark the course, I saw in an instant that I had a choice to make, it was either go outside of the marker and disqualify myself, get more speed, which was hardly possible as my horse was then going as hard as she could go, or else pull up and, of course, call myself out of the race. Well as I was about a neck ahead I decided to go outside of the marker and to try and worm through between the horse man and the other men in the race. As we got closer I saw that I was going to hit the other fellow if I didn't try and get out around. But I tried to do the impossible and of course I hit the fellow and sent him flying from his horse.

He had been facing me, and my left knee engaged with his left knee, and as I was traveling at top speed, it did not bother me in the least. (Just a dream) I thought for a minute that my leg was broken, and on getting down from my horse, I was overjoyed to find it was not so.

After an hour I promptly forgot all about the incident and the following day we packed our horses into cars and started for home. When I got home, I had of course to tell of all the different experiences I had been through while I was away.

I talked for a long time on various things relating to our life in camp, and in the meantime, sham battles, training drill, etc., and, at last I happened to mention that we had had a horse race the night before leaving camp and that I sure thought that I had broken my leg. My mother said "What time was it when you had the horse race?" and I told her it would be in the neighbourhood of 5.30 p.m. Looking over at my sister, my mother said, "Didn't I tell you something was the matter that night, Edith?" Now this is what happened.

About the time I was in the horse race 500 miles from home, Mother and my sister were having their supper at home. My mother palmed her cup of tea to her lips to take a drink, but, before she had drunk at all, she put the cup back on her saucer and turned to my sister and said, "Something has happened to Jack. I do not think he is much, but do not say anything about this when he comes home, and we will say what he has to say."

Now if you can beat that for wireless telepathy go to it.

On the morning of the 27th of September, 1916 I was severely wounded, while doing a daylight patrol on the Somme. After being in hospital for some time, I received a letter from home dated September 23rd, after a few opening words, my mother went on to say "The other morning I woke up with such a start, as someone was calling 'Mother' The Call was so real that I got out of bed and answered that I was coming to let you in."

I do not remember dreaming at all before that, and I thought at the time that something had happened to you and wondered what it was. I hope that it was nothing very bad, but am very anxious to get a line from you, so write and tell me what happened, right away!! Now, after these explanations of how the force works, I will let you judge for yourself of there is such a thing as wireless telepathy or not. There are hundreds receiving these messages. From some close to them, every day, but they do not know how to interpret them; and think that they are restless or that they feel depressed, but if they were able to locate the cause of the depression it would, I have not the slightest doubt, be a revelation to them.

The Hog Situation

From some angles the hog business looks worse than any branch of farm stock work. The situation is a legacy from last year and is not entirely or chiefly due to general price deflation. The knocking of the price a year ago resulted in a rapid liquidation of hog stock both lean and fat and both commercial and breeding stock. It was estimated that not less than sixty per cent. of the young pigs that would normally have gone into breeding for spring litters were sent to the packing plants and that the breeding season for the rest of that did not prove by any means successful, so that there is very little stock to market this year. It looked good to have the early fall quotations favoring around twenty-two cents, but this season's big crop was backward, and on account of these being no feed supply from last year under two and one-half cents a pound the apparently good market did not do anybody any good. The Edmonton plants, for example have been importing from east eighty-five per cent. of their hog supply for local trade. Farmers are now paying big prices for breeding sows to get in fast again and it seems that it is a rather frequent mistake among farmers to both buy and sell at the wrong time. A man cannot go on of big stock such as horses or cattle entirely but he is generally quite unsteady in small stock such as sheep and hogs, which is the kind of stock that always pays best on account of quick turnovers. The small stock is the most economical of feed likewise. It would have paid better last year to have tried to hold on to a limited number of sows at considerable cost for winter keep rather than sacrifice the whole of one's breeding stock. Cattle are at not only surplus meat stock but breeding stock as well. Of course most farmers are in the position of having to sell something and it is farmers are unable to load up when livestock is cheap (in order to have large socks on hand when prices stiffen). It is still the case however that farmers sell in times of low prices and are usually found out buying strong only when prices have stiffened up.

CHAUVIN HOCKEY TEAM

AT WAINWRIGHT

Chauvin Hockey team went down to defeat at Wainwright Friday evening in a hard fought struggle.

Had the goal tenders been reversed there might have been a different story, as Chauvin had the edge on the play most of the game. But boys in goal for Wainwright were in great form, and was stopping hot ones from all corners; while Witherall had an off night and let through some easy ones.

Pierce and Livingstone went through with some brilliant end to end rushes, but Wainwright were playing a steady and effective combination play that was good to watch.

The score ended 3-1 in Wainwright's favor. Another game has been arranged on Wainwright ice on Saturday evening February 5th.

Kings Tribute

To Fallen Hero

Mr. Price is in receipt of a communication in which he takes considerable and justifiable pride. It is a silent tribute from the King in honor of Pte Gilbert Price, of the Manchester Regiment, a son of Mr. Price, who was killed in the war. It reads as follows:

Buckingham Palace

"I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others in the Great War (Royal Seal).

"He whom this scroll commemorates was numbered among those, who, at the call of King and Country, left all that was dear to him, endured hardships, faced danger, and finally passed on of the right of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom."

ing up their own lives that others might live in freedom."

"Let those who come after see to it that his name be not forgotten"

Pte Gilbert Price
Manchester Regiment

Greenmeadow UFA.

The visit of H. E. Spencer to the Greenmeadows U. F. A. was greatly enjoyed by a full turnout of the members on Wednesday, January 12th.

The outline of the wheat pool plan was clearly given by Mr. Spencer, who pointed out that it would be necessary for at least 60 per cent of the farmers to organize in this scheme, though it was to be desired that at least 75 per cent enter into the scheme. The proposal would eliminate middlemen profits and encourage a more even flow of grain to the market and more steadiness in prices. Considered it a better thing for the small farmer as well as for the farmer on a large scale.

E. E. Lambert has been appointed secretary of the French local of the U.F.A. recently formed.

Some Consolation

C. L. Hudson with a rink from Wainwright were visitors to Chauvin Monday last. They had a good game with a local team for the decision of the competition recently at Wainwright. They very courteously left the prize in the hands of Chauvin. That's some consolation.

Is there anything you would miss more than your local paper which costs less than 5 cents per week

During the fall months and early winter we eased up on our collections of subscriptions, owing to the conditions of the markets. By consent or by arrangement we have carried one hundred or more subscriptions. This represents to us a sum of $200.00.

We have reached a point where we need that money, and more to carry on our business. It is no longer a question as to whether we are willing to trust certain individuals for their prompt response. Those who have neglected are asked to delay no longer.

During the past week, we are glad to state, we have had a number of folks come in and pay up. We thank them for their prompt response. Those who have neglected are asked to delay no longer.

THE LAST CALL! FOR LABELS READING '347' OR LESS

This is the last copy to be sent to those whose labels read '347' or lower. We regret to cut a single name off the list, but as we have said before, we regret we are unable to accommodate them.

The publishing business is passing through a most strenuous period. Throughout the world publishers are facing largely increased costs of every factor of their business. Only those who are paying the strictest attention to business, both in circulation and collections are able to face the flood in a sound commercial manner. The weaker units are being forced to allow overdue subscribers to remain on lists for advertising revenue purpose, or to adopt clubbing offers, and put on big subscription drives, in order to stave off the evil day a little longer.

For our own part, we are convinced that it is futile to attempt to put on a big subscription contest. It is unsound business. There is but two courses open: the first, to conduct the highest standard publication possible with a view to maintaining and increasing the list of paid-up subscriptions; the second is to wind up our affairs while there remains sufficient assets to meet the just demands of every creditor.

Your response to this appeal thus becomes like a ballot—every subscription paid is a vote saying "Keep the business going, we appreciate your efforts" and on the other hand every one who does not pay is casting a vote like this "Shut her up, your paper is no good and never will be"

Farmer Brown Favors Pure Bred Stock

Old farmer Brown, one day in town, Spoke this unto a neighbour:
'Success, I guess, means more or less Of brains mixed in with labor. You've got to know how far to go With each new-fangled notion; The farmer's gain is much the same From ocean unto ocean. One's crop may fail because of hail, Or wet or droughty seasons; You ne'er can bet on what you'll get, For various sundry reasons. And this is why I always try To stick to things not risky; Some pure-bred sows and ^{and} cows,

And young mules, strong and frisky; I grow enough of grain and stuff To feed the stock I'm raising'. And year around, I keep some ground still seeded down for grazing! Now every man should have a plan That's based on certain knowledge,

And learn to do by doin', too. Although he's been to college. He'll not succeed unless he'll heed The lessons Nature's teachin', And follow with stubborn will The truths his soil is preachin'! The stock he keeps, the grain he reaps, And all that he's pursuing, Is due to one thing, mainly: 'Twas keepin' stock, a goodly flock. I wish to state it plainly. By every test I kept the best, And this is half the battle. Begin, my son, as I have done— You'll win with pure-bred cattle."

Persons having P. Burns Cream Cans in their possession are asked to return to Parcels & Foxwell, Chauvin without delay. Thanks

THE WISE AND FOOLISH FAIRIES

When the Fairies of the Trees set out to choose their dwelling-places, some were wise, and some were foolish.

The wise fairies shunned the trees that stood alone in the open fields, and settled in a thick forest.

But the foolish fairies said: "Why should we crowd together in a forest? Let us soo and live in lonely trees near villages, where men will bring us gifts."

But one night a great tempest swept over the country. The lonely trees were blown down, and the foolish fairies became homeless. But the great, dense forest resisted the fury of the storm, and one of the trees there were injured. And the wise fairies said to the foolish fairies:

"People should stand united like a forest. It is only the solitary tree growing unprotected upon the bleak downs or in the open fields that is overthrown or broken by a storm."

"Union is Strength."

THE FARMER AND HIS SACKS

A farmer was taking his grist to the mill in sacks thrown across the back of his horse. On the way, the horse stumbled, and one of the sacks fell to the ground. It was too heavy for him to lift, and he was at a loss to know what to do. As he stood wondering he saw a horseman coming towards him.

When, however the rider came nearer, the farmer saw that he was none other than the nobleman who lived in the great house at the top of the hill. It was impossible to think of asking help from one of his rank.

The nobleman, however, was something more than a man with attitude—he was a gentleman, and he dismounted.

"I see you have something of a mischance, friend," he said. "It is fortunate I came along, for help is not always handy on these roads."

So saying, he took one end of the sack, and the farmer took the other, and the load was soon placed

"My lord," said the farmer, lifting and the load was once more placed on the horse's back.

THE TWO KINGS

"The second world makes the quarrel!" There was once a king who sent a message to the king of a neighboring country, saying:

"Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else—"

The other king replied:

"I have not got one; if I had—"

When the first king got this answer he flew in a great rage, and declared war against the other. For many weary months fighting went on, but at last the two kings arranged a meeting.

"What did you mean," said the first, "by saying 'send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else—'?"

"Why," he answered, "I meant a blue pig with a black tail, or else some other color. And now let me ask you what you meant by your message, I have not got one, and if I had—"

"My meaning was simple enough: for of course, for of course, if I had had such a pig I would have sent it."

"Dear me, how foolish we have been," Let us make peace and be friends."

So peace was made and the story was written in the annals of both countries to serve as a warning to those that should come after to be slow to take offense.

GOOD GROUNDS

At the entrance of the Dollar Bank building, a colored man hesitated in front of the office directory and carefully scanned the list of names.

"Can I do anything for you, uncle?" asked a mischievous young man who stood near the spot.

"Ah'm lookin' for a good attorney the man replied."

"Well, you'll be safe in taking almost any on the list."

"But Ah wants a fust class man!"

"Well, why not go to 'Umson?"

"Is he fust class?"

"Best there is!"

"Well, Ah'd go to see him, 'cause my case am important"

"What's the trouble?"

"Ah thinks Ah kin git a divorce fust my wife, 'cause Ah yes heard she went and got married again."

Leaholme U.F.A. Withdraw Their U.G.G. Resolution

A meeting of the Local Board of Management of the United Grain Growers was held at Mr. Keith's office to investigate the complaint of the Leaholme U.F.A. contained in the following Resolution:

"Whereas the members of the Leaholme U.F.A. Local No. 681 of Chauvin district are of opinion that the operator of the Local U.F.A. Elevator has been short weighing and giving a raw deal to his customers by handling the grain crop of 1929, to such an extent that some of the most loyal supporters have declined to let the elevator handle another bushel of their grain. Therefore be it resolved that the officials of the said grain Company be asked to investigate this matter thoroughly and make an effort to please its customers."

The Leaholme U.F.A. were represented and after making their complaints personally it was found that no charge could be proved against the operator and the members present of the Leaholme U.F.A. came to the conclusion that their Resolution did not express really what they intended so held a special meeting and passed the following Resolution unanimously:

"That the Resolution forwarded to the U.G.G. be withdrawn at once, such resolution not being intended as a charge against the U.G.G. operators at Chauvin."

teacher. The farmer had probably heard and read many times that it is dangerous to place lanterns where they may be upset; but no doubt dismissed the suggestion as intended only for "the other fellow."

Too often such caution is unheeded, with the result that disaster occurs. Many barns and outbuildings are burned annually in Canada by lanterns being upset. By simply providing hooks on which the lantern could be hung up, this fire waste would be avoided.

Common Fire Dangers

Spontaneous combustion probably causes more fires than are attributed to it, from the fact that in order to determine whether a fire originates in his manner or not, it must necessarily be detected at its very commencement, and before the flames have destroyed the evidence of its cause.

It is only within recent years that spontaneous combustion has been reasonably understood. The investigation and explanation of scientific enigma, coupled with the efforts of fire underwriters, in collecting and publishing the causes of fires, has led to the acceptance by the general public of the fact that it is possible to ignite many substances without the application of fire, heat or flame, merely by the chemical action of the materials themselves.

Spontaneous combustion is generally due to the absorption of oxygen from the atmosphere by various substances which have an affinity for it. The rapid drying of certain kinds of oils, especially vegetable oils, like linseed, and the drying of moist charcoal, results in the rapid absorption of oxygen to the extent of ignition.

Only waste, which has been used to wipe off machinery, should never be thrown carelessly into a corner, but should be kept in a metal container and removed from the premises daily. Householders should exercise great care in connection with cloths which have been used for polishing furniture and hardwood floors.

Sawdust mixed with linseed oil, will ignite in a few hours.

Cotton waste saturated with linseed oil will burn in from two to ten hours. Most vegetable substances, as well as oatmeal or bran, when packed together in a confined place, without being sufficiently dry, undergo fermentation or heating, and are liable to take fire.

It is well known that hay, when stored away too green or wet, is very liable to set barns on fire by the heat generated in fermentation. It is claimed that if the mow is pierced with holes to permit escape of the gases and heat generated, no combustion can take place.

Fires have been known to occur from the heat of the sun concentrated upon light, combustible materials, such as shavings, oily cotton, or sawdust, through imperfect panes of window glass, which serve the purpose of a "burning lens."

Keep your premises clean. Do not allow rubbish to accumulate in dark corners, closets or concealed places.

Help keep down the cost of your insurance premiums.

Canada now has a real live navy and a compact is reported to have been made with the U.S. whereby Canadian warships will co-operate with the American Pacific fleet. Japan'll better keep hands off U.S. Sam now.

ation and trust on the part of the farmers can this scheme be made successful. Wouldn't it be just as well to add that those who take charge of the business must be the sort who have proved themselves trustworthy? What's in a name anyway. A company, no matter what name it calls under, is no greater than the personality of the man put in charge of it, or perhaps it is about time some of those people are getting round to the idea that actions carry more weight farmer who is no fool. A refusal to recognise this side of it is at the root of more unsuccessful co-operative efforts than one would think.

Making Markets

"To a very large degree, production is controlled by profits and the ease of marketing the products, but some-times, as in the livestock industry, markets have to be created. Canada was producing the fat hog and for years had an outlet for the surplus product, but marketing conditions changed and, the industry immediately faced rather a difficult situation. A new market was the solution. The Government was immediately seized of the situation and had careful surveys and investigations made; educational campaigns were carried on; the type of hog raised in Eastern Canada was changed, and the bacon industry as we know it today came into being. Those who assisted in the transformation realized how great were the difficulties and how tremendous the possibilities. Time has proved to the satisfaction of Canadians that exportable surplus of agricultural products must meet in so far as is possible standards laid down by the importing nations. Moreover, we have learned that it is profitable to meet these demands wherever feasible. Canadian bacon is in Great Britain, and even in other countries, a standard product. The Government's part now is to keep clear all trade channels, thus providing the demand, while the reputation already achieved assures the producer a price comparable to that received in any other market."

Minister of Agriculture

Meat Exports Big Drop

Exports of meat from Canada for the year ending October show a decrease compared with last year of the large total of 127,826,000 lbs. The decrease represents a value of over $40,000,000 on the year's share. The export figures for two years, reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, are given below:-

Bacon and Ham, 1919 208,906,038 lbs. 1920 148,674,000 lbs.
Pork, 1919 18,002,313 lbs.; 1920 1,812,296 lbs.
Beef, 1919 129,844,411 lbs.; 1920 85,916 lbs.
Canned Meats, 1919, 11,388,393 lbs.; 1920, 860,458 lbs.
There was an offset of rather less than a million dollars in the increase of "other meats" exported, a classification that includes game and poultry.

Alberta Dairying Shows Big Increase

Large gains are shown in the dairy industry of Alberta, there being an advance of nearly two millions and a half dollars over the value of the 1919 product, showing that all through 1920 the industry continued its steady advance.

The total value of the province's dairy products reached $24,000,000, a gain of nearly two million and a half dollars over the value of the 1919 output. Part of this gain was made up by the increased price obtained for these products during 1920, as compared with the previous year. Butter, for instance, sold at the creameries at 56 1/2 cents a pound, as compared with the average price of 51 7-8 cents a pound in 1919. The total production of creamery butter, however, was increased from 11,912,820 pounds to 12,150,000 pounds last year, a gain of more than a million pounds. There was a slight falling-off in the output of cheese, 456,534 pounds being manufactured in 1920 as compared with 529,630 the previous year.

The growth of the dairy industry in Alberta, during the last 10 years can fittingly be described as marvellous. In 1910 the total value of all milk products amounted to $7,853,751, about one quarter of the 1920 production. The output of creamery butter has steadily grown from 3,010,755 in 1912 to more than four times this quantity in 1920.

Productive Industry

Alberta's production of farm products including livestock, for the year 1920, is valued by the provincial department of agriculture at $420,000,000.

The value of other provincial products, such as coal, lumber, manufactures and oil cannot be as readily computed. The total, however, must be very large. It is a factor of steadily growing importance in the general prosperity of the province.

The coal industry of Alberta, although it produced at least $25,000,000 last year is still largely in an unorganized state. Alberta coal from this time forward will dominate the western markets as far east as Manitoba. Properly organized, it may later enter the markets of Western Ontario.

The industry needs the assistance of more considerable treatment by the railroads and better storage facilities in the cities and towns of the west.

Before the harvest fills the freight cars with grain they travel east empty. How long will the railroads prefer this long haul of empties to a haul of cars filled with Alberta's coal? A lower freight rate on coal would enable the mine owners to erect sheds in the distributing centres of the west. Mining would become an all-year occupation instead of a seasonal occupation. The miners, assured of continuous instead of intermittent employment could afford to be more reasonable in their wage demands. The entire country would benefit.

The coal industry of Alberta can be made to take a much more important place among the prosperity-inducing enterprises of the province. It will not attain its full value as long as it is impeded by high freight rates and cramped into a short producing season.

The case of Louis Macumber who was charged under the criminal code with the indictable offence of breaking insulators and wires on a telephone line by use of a gun, was tried at Artland, January 22nd before Mr. G. The accused was sentenced to 30 days imprisonment, this being the minimum penalty the Justices could impose under the criminal code. The Justices are to be commended for their leniency and sense of justice in this case, considering that they could have imposed a two-year sentence.

The accused and another boy were out hunting and apparently they had no malicious motive in committing the crime with which they were charged, and were not aware of the penalty attached thereto, and as the boy has every appearance of making a good citizen we feel rather indignant that our laws are such that a bright and promising boy (15 years of age) as he is, will now be confined in the common jail to associate with crooks and criminals of all kinds, which will for all time, taint his reputation and possibly upset his moral sense of self-respect and good citizenship.

The above case will be a warning which should impress itself on the minds of many youths who might be tempted to try their marksmanship on telephone insulators and should also apply to persons breaking telephone wires through negligence or otherwise.

RIBSTONE RIPPLES

The Scarlet Fever epidemic is now, we believe, permanently over. The cases being decidedly on the mend and with the exception of one or two other complications, are up and around again.

Our local agent has moved into his new quarters at the new station, and a work crew are busily engaged in removing the two box cars, which done service at station and freight shed.

The Ribstone Juniors visited Chauvin for a game of hockey Saturday p.m., returning with the short end of a 7 to 12 score which we consider very good considering the boys have had no practice.

Mr. Geo. S. Herron has moved into the L. L. Pound residence, and is looking after the interests of the latter during his absence.

Definition of Curling—"A slippery gae played on ice."

One more game to play in the Double-Knock-Out Curling Competition.—R. J. Wilde vs. E. Dell—for four handsome purses donated by the Ribstone Trading Co. as the prize for this event.

Clifford Burrows and wife were week end visitors in town.

The organ for the Ladies Aid Society arrived last week, but owing to the hall being closed, same could not be uncrated until the hall has been thoroughly fumigated.

At a meeting of the curlers on Saturday night it was decided that the next be an Inter-Rink competition, Monday nights draw being—Dallin vs. Clifford, Tuesday's draw—Dell vs. Crittenden, Wednesday's—Wilde vs. Dallin.

All members of the club are taking a keen interest in the sport, and every game is being enjoyed by a number of interested spectators.

Mr. H. Dallin has opened the butcher shop, which business was formerly conducted by A. Williams.

BARNs MUST BE MORE CAREFULLY PLANNED NOW THAN EVER

A few years ago a barn plan was rather unusual—almost in the luxury class—a convenience—something nice to have. Today it is an absolute necessity: a time, labor and money saver. Size, shed construction and interior arrangement play a large part in making any new barn fit its job at the lowest cost and have it last as a good barn should last. We can help you plan such a barn to fit your farm.
